Mr. Dong-Shin Yeom is currently a partner at Shin & Kim, mainly representing and advising on prosecution-level and court-level defense against corporate crimes, such as white-collar and corporate crimes, fair trade, capital markets, trade secrets, finance, and taxation.

Mr. Yeom is a “Leading Individual” in the Chambers Asia Dispute Resolution: White Collar Crime sector and the “Best Lawyer” in the criminal field selected by media companies and is currently leading the Fair Trade Criminal Response Team.

While serving at the Prosecutors’ Office, the Ministry of Justice and the Constitutional Court, Mr. Yeom has investigated various white collar and anti-corruption cases and performed trials, state litigations and administrative litigations in relation thereto, in addition to the research into constitutional trial. Mr. Yeom provides optimal legal solutions with respect to various criminal cases based on his extensive knowledge and experience in IT, finance and money laundering. Mr. Yeom has completed (i) the international anti-money laundering and hidden asset course held by the Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section & Drug Enforcement Administration of the U.S. Justice Department, (ii) the IT Security Policy Course held by STG Security of the U.S. in Washington and (iii) the Intellectual Property & Information Privacy and Security Law Course at UC Berkeley Law School. He has also participated in (iv) the Chief Intellectual Property Officer Academy at the Department of Law and the Nano-Convergence IP Chief Strategist Course at the Department of Engineering of Seoul National University and (v) the Capital Market Act Advanced Leadership Program provided by the Seoul Finance & Law Institute.
